Course Description
Most environmental issues have many dimensions including technical, social, cultural, ethical, political, and economic, and these issues may concern numerous parties that have different points of view, interests and rights. Using fair procedures, diverse knowledge systems and dialogical practices can go a long way towards achieving agreed-upon terms of reference for addressing environmental problems. Students will learn about relational approaches to addressing environmental problems, including participatory, deliberative and narrative processes. Many of these techniques seek broad societal consensus in decision-making on complex environmental issues. But sometimes conflicts around environmental issues are not amenable to consensus building and environmental problem solving must be structured to allow for the persistence of radically different values and knowledge systems. This course will provide a better understanding of the links between science, ethics and decision-making, but will also use case study analyses to support the development of necessary skills in addressing environmental problems in pluralistic and pragmatic way.

Course Objectives
Upon completion, students will

• Understand different theories of environmental knowledge, environmental ethics and environmental decision-making.
• Understand the difference and utility of aesthetic and efferent approaches to addressing environmental problems.
• Practice relational and dialogical approaches to reading environmental case studies.
• Demonstrate what they have learned through writing.

Course policy on late assignments
No due dates will be extended unless discussed with and agreed upon by the TA. Penalty for late assignments will be 2% of the assignment mark per day late, including weekends. Late assignments will be accepted only for one week after the due dates. Assignments submitted later will not be reviewed and assessed.

Weekly responses to readings are due by 1 pm EST on Mondays (Lectures 2-11) and will be used for the class discussion. Responses to readings submitted after this deadline will not be reviewed and assessed.

The only exemption from these penalties will be for work that is late for health reasons, provided that students submit the proper documentation by way of the Absence Declaration Tool on ACORN.

A Note on Marking:
Feel free to contact me at any time to discuss the requirements of this course. If you are unhappy with the mark you received on an assignment, please email me and the TA with a written response to the comments on your assignment.

Handing in Your Assignment:
The assignments must be uploaded as Word documents on Quercus at the due date. Please follow the University of Toronto procedure to be completed in order to be considered for academic accommodation for any course work such as missed tests or late assignments.

Academic Integrity
The University treats cases of cheating and plagiarism very seriously. The University of Toronto’s Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/behaveac.htm) outlines the behaviours that constitute academic dishonesty and the processes for addressing academic offences. Potential offences in papers and assignments include using someone else’s ideas or words without appropriate acknowledgement, submitting your own work in more than one course without the permission of the instructor, making up sources or facts, obtaining or providing unauthorized assistance on any assignment. On tests and exams cheating includes using or possessing unauthorized aids, looking at someone else’s answers during an exam or test, misrepresenting your identity, or falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University, including (but not limited to) doctor’s notes.

Please avoid academic dishonesty, have confidence in your own ability to learn and grow academically by doing your own thinking and writing!

Accessibility
Students with diverse learning styles and needs are welcome in this course! In particular, if you have a disability/health consideration that may require accommodations, please feel free to approach me and/or the AccessAbility Services Office as soon as possible. I will work with you and AccessAbility Services to ensure you can achieve your learning goals in this course. Enquiries are confidential. The UTSC AccessAbility Services staff (located in SW302) are available by appointment to assess specific needs, provide referrals and arrange appropriate accommodations (416) 287-7560 or ability@utsc.utoronto.ca

Communicating With You
The best way to communicate with me is during office hours. However, I also respond to student emails within two business days (Monday-Friday) and within business hours (9am-5pm). From time-to-time I will send email messages to the class to notify you of changes in schedule and opportunities that you may want to take advantage of. I can only send messages to your U of T e-mail address. If you use another account (gmail, hotmail, yahoo, etc.) make sure that your U of T email is sent to your alternate email account. Similarly if you want to communicate with me, please send the message from your U of T address as I will not respond to emails from other email accounts.

Assessments

Weekly responses to readings

Due Mondays 1pm (Eastern Time): 4%

Complete the following tasks for each of the two weekly readings:

1. Explain how the text triggers your imagination and relates to your personal experience.
2. Explain how you reacted to this text. Consider what thoughts, emotions, memories and moods the text provoked.
3. Cite a quote that you like from the text and explain why it is significant to you.
4. Summarize the reading in 100 words or less. Explain to what extent your summary captures the entire meaning, tone, and style of the text.

Your responses to each of the tasks should be 1 paragraph maximum. Keep your responses to each reading separate (i.e., do all tasks for the first reading and then repeat for the second reading).

Please format your response as follows:

- Maximum 4 pages double spaced font size 12 (no title page)

Assignment 1: Information extraction from Rachel Carson’s book Silent Spring

Due October 18, 11:59 pm (Eastern Time): 20%

Summarize the information presented in Rachel Carson’ book Silent Spring. Organize your information by using the following guidelines:

- Organize your information using headings for different topics addressed in the book.
- Summarize the main information for each topic, including scientific evidence and any environmental decision-making processes and outcomes relevant to the topic, as well as the author’s sources of information.
- Summarize the author's critique of environmental policies and decision-making practices.

Please format your assignment as follows:

- Maximum 12 pages double spaced font size 12 (no title page, excluding references cited)
- Cite references in a consistent format
Assignment 2: Aesthetic reading of Rachel Carson’s Silent Spring

Due November 15, 11:59 pm (Eastern Time): 20%

Write about your personal experience reading Silent Spring. Address the following questions and tasks in your paper:

- How did you react to this book? Explain what thoughts, memories, emotions and moods it provoked in you.
- What parts of the book were most meaningful to you and why?
- How did your experience reading this book compare to reading a scientific article?
- How did the style of the book affect your response to the main arguments of the author?
- To what extent is the book seeking to give you information and/or inviting you to use your imagination and experience to understand its meaning? Provide examples from the text to illustrate your perspective.
- Summarize the main argument of the book in 250 words or less. To what extent does your summary capture the tone, style and meaning of the text? Does it matter if your summary does not provoke the same reaction as the original text? Explain why.

Please format your assignment as follows:

- Maximum 12 pages double spaced font size 12 (no title page, excluding references cited)
- Cite references in a consistent format

Assignment 3: The impact of Rachel Carson’s book Silent Spring on the environmental movement

Due December 6, 11:59 pm (Eastern Time): 20%

Write an essay on the impact of Rachel Carson’s book Silent Spring on the environmental movement and explain why has Silent Spring been so impactful? Your answer should approach this question from both a scientific and literary (aesthetic) perspective. Also consider the relevance of Silent Spring for environmental decision-making today. You may draw upon the following resources:

Please format your assignment as follows:

- Maximum 12 pages double spaced font size 12 (no title page, excluding references cited)
- Cite references in a consistent format
