CPS1901H Ethics

This course is intended to acquaint students with the ethics and standards of professional conduct, including the Canadian Psychological Association’s Canadian Code of Ethics for Psychologists and Practice Guidelines for Providers of Psychological Services as well as the relevant provincial and territorial codes of ethics and professional standards.

Successful candidates should have completed their Ph.D. The ideal candidate should have an in-depth knowledge of the ethical and legal responsibilities associated with the practice of clinical psychology. Teaching experience at the university level is required.

Duties include online delivery of all course components including, for example, online lectures, hosting and moderating online student presentations and discussions, delivery and/or submission of online assignments and exams.

Lectures are scheduled on Tuesdays from 4:00pm-6:00pm and will be held online.

Applications should include a covering letter, curriculum vitae, the names and contact information for 2 referees, and any additional related materials (including course ratings from previous courses taught). Applications should be made to: https://www.utsc.utoronto.ca/webapps/slship/modules/postings/postings.php?d=4296&u=1&s_a=true

The deadline to apply is Monday, July 12, 2021 by 11:59pm.

In accordance with the current CUPE 3902 Unit 3 Collective Agreement, the rate of pay for sessional lecturer I is $8,489.67 for a half-course, inclusive of vacation pay.

For 2021-22 Important dates, please see: https://www.sgs.utoronto.ca/current-students/sessional-dates/