CLASSICAL STUDIES

Getting Ready for Your First Year
First year courses are designed to offer you core foundational knowledge that will prepare you for your second year at UTSC. Follow the first year course enrolment guide for your first year at the University for Toronto Scarborough.

Classical Studies – Minor program

Students should include the following courses in their first year course selection:

- CLAA04H3 – The Ancient Mediterranean World
- CLAA06H3 – Ancient Mythology II: Greece and Rome (recommended preparation course: CLAA05H3 – Ancient Mythology I: Mesopotamia and Egypt)

If you wish to take additional Classical Studies courses in your first year, you may take most B-level courses. Please pay special attention to the prerequisites, exclusions, and any additional course information such as recommended preparation courses.

Elective Courses
Once you have selected courses to fulfill your first year program requirements, it’s time to think about electives to fill up your schedule. Electives are an essential part of your undergraduate studies, and are requirements for your overall University of Toronto degree.

Determine How Many Courses You Will Take in First Year
Your program requirements as a first year student will not be enough to fill your timetable. A standard course at UTSC is 0.5 credits.

A full-time student can take between 1.5 – 2.5 credits. This is equivalent to three, four, or five courses per semester. A student who wishes to complete their undergraduate degree in four years should aim to complete 5.0 credits in the Fall and Winter semester. You may also choose to reduce your course load, and take courses in the Summer semester. Find a balance that’s right for you.

Track your academic progress online with Degree Explorer www.rosi.utoronto.ca/degree_explorer.php
This online assessment tool will show you which courses you have completed, which are pending, which are outstanding, and more.