LEC01: Rural Geography and Agrarian Change

Information

Using primarily an agrarian political economy lens, this class explores the historical and spatial dynamics that transform not just agriculture but the whole of rural society. We start off by looking at some of the classic approaches to question of agrarian change that surfaced at the turn of the 20th century and move forward to the current historical conjecture to see how similar forces, in their 21st century form, are still transforming rural places and spaces. This class will address such topics as the diversification of rural livelihoods, territorialisation, labour migration, capitalist development, land and identity, extractivism, and food sovereignty among others.

Step 1: Request the course on ACORN. Your status will be INT. You will not be officially enrolled until you complete the remaining steps (below).

Step 2: Meet with the Supervisor and obtain their signature on a 'Supervised Study form'. Make sure the course code, supervisor name and title of the project is clearly printed on the form as this information will appear on your transcript. The Supervised Study form is available in the hallway outside the Office of the Registrar (room AA142). Your Department listed below may require additional paperwork. Students should contact the Office listed for more information.

Step 3: Submit the signed Supervised Study form to the Office of the Registrar by the last day to add courses for the session. Staff will update your course status on ACORN from interim (INT) to approved (APP).
